Hall, Bloch, Garland & Meyer Welcomes New Of Counsel

MACON, GA — Hall, Bloch, Garland & Meyer is pleased to announce the addition of Boniface G. Echols to the firm as an of counsel attorney. Echols, founder and managing attorney at The Echols Firm, LLC, has served clients over the past 26 years in the areas of business law, asset/debt management, receiverships, bankruptcy, real estate, contracts, mediation, arbitration, and tort claims. Echols has also served as a Special Assistant District Attorney, handling civil litigation.

With the addition of Echols, HBGM will be able to provide an enriched client experience in the handling of real estate matters and litigation. His wealth of knowledge in working with distressed businesses will become an invaluable resource for HBGM clients in the areas of receiverships, bankruptcy, and commercial litigation.

“We are excited to welcome Boniface Echols to our team,” says partner, Pat Meyer. “Boniface’s addition to the firm is a testament that we are an attractive destination for attorneys who want a solid platform for their practice with the individual flexibility to manage it in a manner most beneficial to the client. Boniface’s statewide experience complements our existing practice groups and will allow us to better serve our clients’ needs.”
